ARTH 240 Art of the Nineteenth Century credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/240/>)

Architecture, painting, sculpture, and minor arts of France, Germany, Spain, and England in the nineteenth century.

ARTH 241 Modern Art, 1880-1940 credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/241/>)

This course examines the ways in which artists reconceived how art should look and function in response to the many changes – social, political, and technological – that accompanied the modernization of Europe from 1880 to 1940. Topics to be covered include the avant-garde, modernism's relationship to "primitivism," pure abstraction, art's responses to the political upheavals of World War I and the Russian Revolution, the advent of design, and the politics of realism and representation. Although primarily focused in Europe, the course also touches on related modern movements globally.

This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:

Humanities - Lit Arts

ARTH 242 Art Since 1940 credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/242/>)

The scope of this course begins amidst the devastation and geopolitical shifts that followed World War II and ends with the effects of globalization in the 1990s and 2000s. We will ask the same questions that faced artists and critics in between: Should art focus on its own material processes or open its borders to historical flux? Is it art's job to create the cultural myths that bind society together, or to deconstruct them? Who participates in modern and contemporary art, and who doesn't? What kinds of production should be considered art? How are specific formal strategies informed by the perspectives of different subject positions? What politics underwrite them? We will consider, and reconsider, the existing narratives about art during this period with a dual aim: first, to better understand the historical positions of the artists in question, and, second, to piece together a prehistory of the moment in which we currently find ourselves.

This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:

ARTH 260 Graffiti and Murals credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/260/>)

From Bronx walls to the Berlin Wall, from ancient palatial decorations to spray-can art, murals and graffiti have been revolutionary political tools, objects of aesthetic contemplation, and vehicles for identity formation. Primarily a lecture course that examines ancient and early modern cases from different cultures, as well as focusing on modern examples from Latin America and the USA. Same as LLS 260.

ARTH 299 Spec Topics in Art History credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/299/>)

Special topics in Art History Courses. Topics and subject matter to be published in course listings. May be repeated to a maximum of 12 hours but no more than 6 hours in any one term. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing in Art and Design.

ARTH 300 Art Criticism and Writing credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/300/>)

This course introduces students to the history and practice of art criticism and provides them with relevant tools and experiences to craft their own body of art criticism. During the course of the semester, students will analyze and interpret texts of art criticism; analyze formal qualities of works of art and visual culture, and evaluate their meaning and historical significance; write about modern and contemporary art; and assemble an interview with a working artist.

ARTH 310 African Art and Society I credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/310/>)

Introduces the arts of Black Africa, i.e., dance, drama, songs, and poetry, as expressed in a multi-media framework and a social-religious context; surveys the art styles of the Dogon, Senufo, Mende, and Ashanti peoples.

ARTH 312 Central African Art credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/312/>)

A one-semester introduction to the arts of central Africa. Sculpture, pottery, architecture, body adornment, contemporary art, and performance will be examined and discussed on the basis of aesthetic, religious, political, and social contexts. Discusses many changes and continuities within African artistic traditions as evidenced in late twentieth-century urban, popular, and political arts of central Africa. We shall also investigate some central African artistic influences found in African American arts. Same as AFST 312.

ARTH 313 Modern and Contemp African Art credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/313/>)

Examines how multiple "modernisms" emerged from African independence movements, and thereby influenced the development of African and African-American art from the 1960s to the present. Same as AFST 313.

ARTH 320 Sacred Sites in Japan credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/320/>)

Same as EALC 320. See EALC 320.

ARTH 342 Arts of Colonial Latin America credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/342/>)

Introduction to the major art historical, stylistic and iconographic developments of several Latin American countries of the late sixteenth through eighteenth centuries. Themes to be investigate include: the pictorial representation of race; indigenous workshops, traditions, and the birth of European art academies; the constructions of gender; as well as the translation of styles. The course includes field trips to local museums and libraries. Previous introductory level art history or Latin American history course recommended. Same as LAST 342.

ARTH 343 Arts of Modern Latin America credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/343/>)

This course is an introduction to the major visual materials, monuments, and critical debates of the arts of Latin America, from the 19th to the early 20th century. It studies a wide range of artistic media, including drawings, paintings, popular prints, performance, photography, film, murals, architecture, and urban planning, especially as they pertain to definitions of "Latin America". The course pays particular attention to constructions of race and gender in representing the modern nation. Same as LAST 343.

ARTH 344 Spanish Modern Art credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/344/>)

Introduction to the rich visual cultures of Spain beginning with the Bourbon dynasty in the eighteenth century through the early decades of the twentieth century. The course examines a variety of themes: from the mythologized loves of Goya, to the grandeur of canvases recreating Spain's history; from Spanish Romanticism to the rise of vanguard movements and the advent of Pablo Picasso. 3 undergraduate hours. Prerequisite: Previous introductory level art history course recommended, but not required.

ARTH 345 Realism to Postimpressionism credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/345/>)

Studies European art from 1850 to 1900, with emphasis on French painting.

ARTH 350 American Art 1750-1900 credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/350/>)

Studies the two major directions of art in the United States from independence to the centennial, with focus on major figures and the scientific and philosophical movements which influenced them. Prerequisite: One year of art history or consent of instructor.

ARTH 351 Early American Modernism credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/351/>)

Examines American art, particularly painting and sculpture, 1876-1940, against its cultural background and the relation of the American artist to Europe in an attempt to isolate the roots of Modernism in the United States. Prerequisite: One year of art history or consent of instructor.

ARTH 360 Women and the Visual Arts credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/360/>)

Explores the complex interconnections of women with the visual arts in Europe and North America from the classical era to the present, including the modes of artistic production and the representation of women in western society. Same as GWS 360.

ARTH 361 Contemporary Art credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/361/>)

This class investigates the history of contemporary art, examining the key issues, institutions, and events that have shaped how and where contemporary art is made, displayed, encountered, and critiqued. Attention will center on the artistic and political engagements that inform contemporary practices, from the legacies of twentieth century artmaking to the fluctuations of global financial markets to artist responses to topics such as human rights crises and ecological disasters. Readings and discussions will also explore influential cultural centers in today's global art world, including Beirut, Lagos, New York, and Shanghai. Prerequisite: No prerequisites, but students are encouraged to take ARTH 242 - Modern Art prior to ARTH 361 - Contemporary Art.

ARTH 391 Individual Art History Topics credit: 1 to 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/391/>)

Directed independent research. May be repeated to a maximum of 6 hours. Prerequisite: Junior standing in art and design; and consent of instructor, advisor, and associate director of the School.

ARTH 402 Ways of Seeing in Edo Japan credit: 3 or 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/402/>)

Focuses on modes of seeing and technologies of vision manifest in the visual arts of Edo Japan, 1615-1868. At the time, imported European instruments of seeing, such as the microscope, made possible unusual visual experiences; revivals of classical Japanese painting manipulated different ways of recreating and visualizing the past. A variety of themes, organized chronologically, will demonstrate the importance of seeing in painting and calligraphy, ceramics, woodblock prints, and architecture. Same as EALC 402. 3 undergraduate hours. 3 or 4 graduate hours. Prerequisite: Junior standing required.

ARTH 403 Word and Image in Chinese Art credit: 3 or 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/403/>)

Study of the diverse correlations between verbal texts and visual images in Chinese art and art theory from the twelfth through seventeenth centuries. Same as EALC 403. 3 undergraduate hours. 3 or 4 graduate hours.

ARTH 404 China through Film credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/404/>)

Examines a group of feature films from the 1980s through 2010s that were commercially produced in the People's Republic of China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and the U.S.A. Our goal is to analyze how these films construct an image of China. Understanding the cultural and historical circumstances under which these films were produced is crucial to accomplishing this goal. But equally important is learning how to watch films and how to write about them. Same as EALC 404. 3 undergraduate hours. No graduate credit. Prerequisite: Restricted to undergraduate students only; junior standing required.

ARTH 407 Rome: City of Visible History credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/407/>)

Same as ARCH 407. See ARCH 407.

ARTH 410 West African Art and Ideas credit: 3 or 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/410/>)

Prerequisite: Junior standing or consent of instructor.

ARTH 438 Modernity's Mirror: Nineteenth-Century Architecture 1750-1900 credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/438/>)

Same as ARCH 415. See ARCH 415.

ARTH 440 Romantic Art credit: 3 or 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/440/>)

Studies English, French, and German art from the end of the eighteenth century through 1840; focuses on revivalist movements, historicism, landscape art, and changing conceptions of art and artist during the period. 3 undergraduate hours. 3 or 4 graduate hours.

ARTH 443 The Russian Avant-Garde: Revolutionary Forms and Socialist Norms credit: 3 or 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/443/>)

What happens to art's forms and institutions in a socialist society? What kind of patron is the working class, the public, or the state? Can art be revolutionary? If so, how so? What does it look like? In this course, we will look at the ways that artists strove to answer these questions in the decades surrounding the Russian Revolution of 1917. Examining formations across a broad range of media—including painting and sculpture, mass festivals and monuments, theater, design, architecture, photography, and cinema—we will attempt to understand how art was redefined in terms of collective forms of authorship, common spaces, and shared things. 3 undergraduate hours. 4 graduate hours.

ARTH 445 European Art Between the Wars credit: 3 or 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/445/>)

Study of the leading personalities and movements in European painting, sculpture, and architecture, with emphasis on painting. 3 undergraduate hours. 3 or 4 graduate hours. Prerequisite: Junior standing or consent of instructor.

ARTH 450 Institutional Critique credit: 3 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/450/>)

Institutions—from the museum to the university—overwhelmingly frame the terms and conditions by which we encounter art and come to know what matters most in the so-called art world. This seminar focuses on artistic and activist efforts devised to bring these institutional frameworks into greater public view. Our primary concern will be to examine theories and practices of institutional critique, a genre of artmaking and mode of analysis that is often periodized as emerging in the 1970s and that was extensively conceptualized in the 1990s. We will also study its earlier twentieth century precedents and continued reverberations today. 3 undergraduate hours. No graduate credit. Prerequisite: Restricted to students with junior standing or consent of the instructor.

ARTH 460 Museum Management credit: 3 or 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/460/>)

This course is concerned with advanced theoretical issues of art museum work, taught by the professional staff of a museum. Topics covered include collections, curatorial issues, educational program planning, trustee relations, public outreach, fundraising, budgeting, and staff organization. 3 undergraduate hours. 4 graduate hours. Prerequisite: Junior standing or consent of instructor.

ARTH 462 Museum Theory and Practice credit: 3 or 4 Hours. (<https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/terms/ARTH/462/>)
