HISTORY, MA AND LIBRARY & INFORMATION SCIENCE, MS

for the degrees of History, MA and Library & Information Science, MS department websites: History (http://www.history.illinois.edu) or School of Information Sciences (https://ischool.illinois.edu/) overview of grad college admissions & requirements: https://grad.illinois.edu/admissions/apply (https://grad.illinois.edu/admissions/apply/) phone: (217) 244-2591

history email: history@illinois.edu school of information science email: Moises Orozco Villicana, Director of Enrollment Management at: orozco6@illinois.edu

This joint interdisciplinary master's degree program includes a program of courses leading to a Master of Arts degree in History as well as a Master of Science in Library and Information Science. The joint degree program matches expertise in historical research and writing with professional education, and prepares students for professional careers in archives, libraries, museums, historical societies, corporations, and government agencies.

The joint degree program requires 56 credit hours divided between History and iSchool courses. No more than 12 hours can double count.

Information listed in this catalog is current as of 04/2022