

MINOR IN LINGUISTICS

The Linguistics Minor is designed for students who seek a basic familiarity with the field and is especially suited for students with majors in foreign language and other language-related fields such as anthropology, computer science, English, psychology, communication, and for anyone interested in the nature of language.

For advising information please visit the Linguistics advising page.

Code	Title	Hours
LING 100	Intro to Language Science	3
Select two of the following:		6
LING 301	Elements of Syntax
LING 302	Elements of Phonology
LING 307	Elmnts Semantics & Pragmatics
Nine additional hours of linguistics courses, including at least six hours chosen from the following:		9
LING 301	Elements of Syntax (if not chosen for the second requirement above)
LING 302	Elements of Phonology (if not chosen for the second requirement above)
LING 307	Elmnts Semantics & Pragmatics (if not chosen for the second requirement above)
LING 210	Language History
LING 225	Language, Mind, and Brain
LING 250	Language Diversity in the USA
LING 400	Intro to Linguistic Structure
LING 401	Intro to General Phonetics
LING 406	Intro to Computational Ling	