The Department of Media and Cinema Studies in the College of Media offers a B.S. Degree in Media and Cinema Studies with two concentrations, Media Studies and Cinema Studies. Students from outside the College can earn an undergraduate Minor in Cinema Studies and a graduate Minor in Cinema Studies. College of Media students may not pursue the Minor in Cinema Studies.

Students in the Media and Cinema Studies program develop an understanding of modern communications, media, and cinema from an interdisciplinary perspective. They explore the theory behind contemporary media and the origins, structures and implications for our society. Students also address the history of media and cinema both in the United States and internationally. The development of all mediated forms is considered in light of more general concerns about technology, culture, society, and politics.

For the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Media and Cinema Studies

To graduate from the media and cinema studies curriculum, a student must meet all general University and College requirements for the degree and must complete the following courses:

- Media Studies Concentration (http://catalog.illinois.edu/undergraduate/media/departments/media-cinema-studies/media-studies-concentration)
- Cinema Studies Concentration (http://catalog.illinois.edu/undergraduate/media/departments/media-cinema-studies/cinema-studies-concentration)

Minor in Cinema Studies

MACS Class Schedule (https://courses.illinois.edu/schedule/DEFAULT/DEFAULT/MACS)

Courses

MACS 100 Intro to Popular TV & Movies credit: 3 Hours.
The goal of this course is for students to begin to develop a critical understanding of the role of popular movies and television in their own lives and in U.S. culture. The course looks at issues of the relationship of media to social violence, gender identities, sexual identities, adolescents, minority cultures, and the role of the U.S. media globally. It also considers some of the major media genres that characterize U.S. popular television and movies.
This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:
UIUC: Literature and the Arts
UIUC: Western Compartv Cult

MACS 101 Intro to the Media credit: 3 Hours.
Introduces students to core issues in communication, ranging from the role of language in human history to political questions posed by electronic and digital technologies. Exploring key contemporary problems through timely readings, students learn and write about how the media affect everyday life. Prerequisite: Freshman or sophomore standing.
This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:
UIUC: Advanced Composition

MACS 104 Intro to Film credit: 3 Hours.
Same as ENGL 104. See ENGL 104.
This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:
UIUC: Literature and the Arts
MACS 117  Shakespeare on Film  credit: 3 Hours.
Same as ENGL 117. See ENGL 117.
This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:
UIUC: Literature and the Arts

MACS 166  Contemporary Media Literacy  credit: 3 Hours.
Develops skills to assess the importance of new media in contemporary culture. The course emphasizes both social and technical aspects of media. As part of the course, students prepare their own media and evaluate current media literacy projects. Prerequisite: Freshman or sophomore standing.
This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:
UIUC: Social Sciences

MACS 199  Undergraduate Open Seminar  credit: 1 TO 5 Hours.
May be repeated to a maximum of 12 hours in separate semesters if topics vary.

MACS 202  Social Aspects Info Tech  credit: 3 Hours.
Same as INFO 202 and LIS 202. See INFO 202.
This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:
UIUC: Social Sciences

MACS 203  Contemporary Movies  credit: 3 Hours.
Provides a critical context for recent international cinema by exploring several kinds of genres, aesthetics, and technologies. We will discuss transnational trends in cinema relating to the influence of other media such as gaming, social networking, and personal electronics, as well as consider impacts of economic structures of global filmmaking production and exhibition. We will view popular and art movies, and query longstanding categories such as the teen pic, "woman's" film, and documentary.

MACS 205  Introduction to Documentary  credit: 3 Hours.
This course introduces students to one of the fastest growing areas in media today: the documentary. It's designed for students who want to expand their knowledge and appreciation of documentaries in all their forms. Using weekly in-class screenings, discussion, readings, ad writing, students will examine a wide variety of documentaries, looking at their styles, purposes, and storytelling "voices", as well as learning the language and other fundamentals of documentary. We will also cover some of the basic methods involved in planning and creating a documentary. Please note: this is NOT a hands-on production course. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing or above required.

This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for:
UIUC: Western Culture

MACS 322 Politics and the Media credit: 3 Hours.
Same as CMN 325 and PS 312. See PS 312.

MACS 323 Studies Film/Media Production credit: 1 to 3 Hours.
Provides analytical framework for pursuing film/media production. Emphasizes critical analysis of various aspects of production: e.g., scriptwriting, storyboarding, cinematography, editing, set and costume design, location and studio shooting, sound. Covers theories of representation, narrative, meaning-making, experimentation, and audience in relation to film/media production practices. Does not, however, teach students how to do film and media production (e.g., how to work a camera, etc.). Therefore, students must come to the course with experience in film and/or media production (can be self-taught).

Both individual and group projects are encouraged. Students should expect to work as crew for other students in class. Culminates in a public screening at which students present an analysis of their own project—both the process and the finished product. To apply for course, students (individually or in groups) must propose an idea or concept for a film/media project they would like to produce during the class. May be repeated in separate terms to a maximum of 6 hours. May be repeated by students who wish to pursue a longer project in two consecutive semesters (may include summer). Students may not repeat the course to pursue separate projects. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

MACS 326 New Media, Culture & Society credit: 3 Hours.
Digital media is an immensely pervasive and powerful form of communication that despite its rapid growth has yet to reach most of the world's population. This lecture-based survey course for undergraduates traces the history and formation of personal computing and the Internet, the development of virtual communities and virtual worlds, evolving forms of digital representation and communication, digital visual cultures, features of new media industries, and the rise of participatory media. Evaluation and assessment is based on written exams, quizzes, class discussion in section, and practice-based assignments using new media technologies such as wikis, blogs, games, and digital video. Emphasis is on mastering key concepts of digital media through theory and history, and on critical discussion of distinctive features of digital media objects. Lectures and discussion sections are held in computer-equipped classrooms. Same as INFO 326.

MACS 331 Media and Democracy credit: 3 Hours.
